Accident Checklist

Be Ready For Whatever Comes Your Way

You never know when an accident may happen, but you can be prepared by knowing what to do after it happens. Knowing answers to even the most obvious questions such as where to get your vehicle repaired can aid in this stressful time.

What To Do When Involved In An Accident

The first thing you should do is determine if anyone is seriously injured. If someone is hurt, call 911 immediately and wait for a paramedic to arrive. It may be a good idea to call the local police so there is an official report of the accident.

Who To Call When Your Car Is No Longer Operational

King Collision Center associates are trained to handle not only your repairs, but also assist you with your paperwork, work with your insurance company and ensure you get the answers you need.

Know Where To Take Your Car For Repair

It's helpful to know ahead of time where to take your vehicle for collision repair, and you have a choice when it comes to repairing your vehicle, regardless of where an insurance company recommends. We advise you to only take your vehicle to King Collision Center, where we are equipped with state-of-the-art equipment and expert technicians who are specialists. We ensure your vehicle will be returned to its pre-accident condition.
